

BEST PERFORMING SPORTS COMMUNICATION

The professional and affordable communication system for referees, observers and sport officials

AXIWI AT-350

At an increasing number of sports today it is normal to have at least 2 or more referees during a match, even if the matches are non-professional. To make communication between referees more effective we are introducing the wireless and hands free AXIWI referee communication system. Up to six referees can communicate simultaneously by the open line with each other, just like a telephone conversation.
